Safety Must be Proactive and Cultural

Effect of reactive efforts lead to loss

- Increased costs due to efficiency gap
- Loss of revenue due to production impact
- The potential for brand and reputational damage
- Possibility of increase incident rates
- Compensation for damages against workplace injury

When Safety is Cultural

Your business is better equipped to:

- Prevent avoidable incidents
- Encourage employees to respect policies
- Maximize profits and Minimize losses
- Improve financial performance
- Protect the previous bottom line – people's lives

Training that Impacts All of These Areas:

- Protecting Lives (Zero Incidents)
- Lost Time Incidents (LTI)
- Injury Frequency Rate (IFR)
- Procedure and Performance Standards
- Management Commitment and Consistent Effective Communications
- Budget Constraints
- Developing Safety Culture where Safety is a VALUE not a PRIORITY
